Excuse for World War Recalled

World-wide celebration of Armistice day recalls the war itself and the flimsy pretext used by Austria for plunging Europe into the bloody strife which ended five years ago Sunday.

Germany and Austria desired war and doubtless would have had it anyway, but the murder of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his morganatic wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, was seized upon by the central powers as a particularly good pretext for touching a match to the European powder barrel.

The Austrian archduke and his consort were murdered by one Gavril Princip while they were on an official visit to the town of Sarajevo, in Bosnia, on June 28, 1914. Investigation carried on by the Austrian officials at Sarajevo led to the conclusion that the assassination of the archduke had been planned at Belgrade and that the pistols and bombs used had been smuggled into Bosnia from Serbia with the connivance of Serbian officials. It was decided at the influence of Berlin, that the occasion for crushing Serbia and starting a world conflict had come.

Accordingly, on July 23, 1914, the Austrian government issued an ultimatum which required an answer from Serbia within 48 hours. This ultimatum included ten demands, as follows:

That Serbia should suppress every public manifestation which excited hatred of the dual monarchy; that the Serbian government dissolve certain societies accused of fomenting propaganda hostile to Austria; that teachers instilling hatred of Austria be dismissed and that objectionable matter in the textbooks be eliminated; that Serbia disarm her army and governmental employ all officers and officials found taking part in the propaganda; that Serbia accept the collaboration of agents of the Austro-Hungarian government in suppression of the subversive movement against Austria; that Austro-Hungarian representatives be allowed to take part in the investigation of persons accused of complicity in the murder of the archduke; that Serbia take action against two specified officials who were accused of complicity in the crime at Sarajevo; that Serbia take effective measures to stop the smuggling of arms and ammunition across her border; and finally that Serbia give explanation of the expressions of hostility toward Austria-Hungary on the part of high Serbian officials.

Immediately following the publication of the ultimatum the governments of England, France and Russia, realizing the danger in the situation, asked Austria to give Serbia more time to answer the ultimatum. The request was refused.

Sir Edward Grey, acting for England, then asked Serbia to comply with the terms of the ultimatum. This Serbia agreed in the main to do, reserving to herself only such rights as she was entitled to under international law. Austria, however, pressed to be dissatisfied because the ultimatum had not been accepted in its entirety, and declared war on Serbia on July 28, 1914. Within a few days Russia, France, Belgium and England were involved.

PEACE PARADE STIRS WAR MEMORIES

ELECTRIFIED LINE COSTS $500,000

Union Pacific-Glendale and Montrose Companies Make Big Outlay

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.
Approximately $500,000 is being spent by the Union Pacific system, in conjunction with the Glendale & Montrose Railway company, in the electrification of the Glendale avenue line, according to Preston L. Hatch, general manager of the latter company, who states that 65 per cent of the work will be complete by November 15th.

Following out their plan of co-operation, the Union Pacific on September 24 placed in the field a construction superintendent and crew of over fifty men. On October 28 the pole line was in place ready to receive the wires, a stretch of four miles of line, two miles of which, passing through Glendale, states Mr. Hatch, is cross-spaced, the equivalent of a six mile straightaway line. This part of the work has cost the Union Pacific $62,000.

Will Rebuild Tracks
Commencing December 1, this company will rebuild its trackage from Cerritos avenue north on Glendale avenue, replacing with 90-pound rails the old 60-pound sections now in use and rock-ballasting the entire line, adding the latest type electric switches, following which National pavement will be laid 4 1/2 feet on each side of the track, to conform with the city requirement. This part of the work will be completed by January 1, at a cost of $99,000.

The third and last part of the Union Pacific end of the work will then commence, including 6000 feet of electrically operated station and other light handling facilities, concentrated at the location of the present depot on Glendale avenue between California avenue and Lexington drive. This part of the work will cost $102,000 and will be completed as near after January 1 as possible.

Totals Come High
The total expenditure of the Union Pacific end of the Glendale avenue electrification is thus seen to be $263,000. Added to this is another $150,000 the Glendale & Montrose Railway company is spending to increase its transportation facilities, states Mr. Hatch, swelling the grand total of expenditures to a minimum of $413,000.

The Union Pacific end of the work, which is being carried on under the direction of A. E. Berlin, assistant engineer of the system, has been executed in the field under E. E. Mead, superintendent of construction; G. F. Sewell, general foreman; and C. C. Clark, inspector. For weeks these men have had their heads together constantly, with the one idea of consummating with the utmost speed compatible with thorough engineering this great forward step in the transportation facilities of Glendale.

Engineer Lives Here
Mr. Berlin is a resident of Glendale, living at 515 East Windsor road. He was given charge of the job by reason of the fact that at the time of the office of A. McGuire, chief assistant engineer. (Continued on page 8)

CLUBWOMEN MAKE PLEA FOR PEACE

Armistice Day Message to Americans Sounds Note Throughout U. S.

A plea for peace comes from American club women as an Armistice Day message to American people, and this great nationwide note of peace sounded from the headquarters of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington, D. C. was echoed yesterday at prominent Glendale churches by a group of "Three Minute Women" from the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Among the club women making the plea to Glendale church people were: Mrs. C. H. Toll at the First Methodist church; Mrs. Madison E. Jones at the Glendale Presbyterian church; Mrs. A. H. Montgomery at the Tropic Presbyterian church; Mrs. C. W. Houston at the Congregational church; Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson at the Central Christian church; Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward at the First Baptist church; Mrs. E. W. Evans at St. Mark's Episcopal church; Mrs. C. E. Norton at the Holy Family Catholic church; Mrs. C. A. Brandstater at the Seventh-day Adventist church on Saturday.

Their message follows:

Falls On Sunday
"This year Armistice Day falls upon the Lord's Day, and in churches throughout the country women are pleading as Christians for a Christian world. Five years ago today the war-torn world rejoiced at the coming of peace. The hopes of millions of men and women ran high for a world peace, permanent and just. "We celebrate that day, but with confessions of failure and of sin. We have not achieved that peace, nor realized that justice. Deep hatreds and fears abide. Nations today still compete in preparing for war. Not only is war a bitter fruit of the tree of violence and hate, but also a root which strikes deep down into the soil of a competitive and unfriendly world. "In this world-problem and world-task none are more deeply (Continued on page 2)

"Father-and-Son Week." That is what the mayor of one of Tujunga's suburbs has proclaimed. Yep, Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles has done went and designated November 12 to 18 as a week set apart so that "the father may become more the companion and guide of the son and the son come to appreciate the value of the father's association and counsel."

Three-Ring Variety Will Be Outdone by Showing at Clubhouse

Circus days are going to be a two-day event in Glendale this week and all the three-ringed circuses of the past are going to be entirely outdone in fun and thrills by the big society circus to be staged at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse Friday and Saturday, with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president and chairman of ways and means, as ringmaster. Many attractions are being cleverly worked out by the club women and the clubhouse and grounds will be the scene of two days of gay revelry.

A brilliant, colorful midway, "The Streets of Cairo," located on the club grounds, will lure the crowds with its many side-shows and other attractions planned by the Drama Section, with Mrs. Max L. Green as curator.

JAP APPEALS DENIED BY JUDGES

California and Washington Legislation Upheld by Highest Tribunal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The United States supreme court, in two decisions today, held that the anti-alien laws of the states of California and Washington are constitutional and valid.

Both cases came before the supreme court on appeals brought by Japanese after the state courts had upheld the laws, which prohibit aliens NOT eligible to citizenship under United States laws from acquiring or possessing real property.

The decisions of the state courts of California and Washington were upheld in both cases. The California decision was delivered by Justice Butler.

Two Complaints
W. Mizuno, who was prohibited from leasing lands from W. L. Porterfield, was the complainant in the California case, while the Washington case was brought by Frank and Elizabeth Terrace, and N. Nakatsuka, a Japanese, against Attorney General Lindsay L. Thompson of Washington.

Porterfield, the California, joined with Mizuno, the Japanese, in contending that the effect of the prohibitory legislation was to deprive citizens of the United States owning agricultural lands of their liberties and property in violation of the federal constitution and that it deprives Japanese citizens of California of the right to lease farm lands in that state, which right is granted to other aliens, denying them equal protection of the laws and "subjecting them to discrimination on the ground of color, race and nationality, in violation of the constitution."

Treaty Broken, Claim
Mizuno also claimed denial of rights, privileges and immunities secured to him under the treaty between the United States and Japan, but the court held that the state laws were not in conflict with the treaty either in California or Washington.

The attack made upon the Washington law was similar in nearly every respect to the California case, and the decisions of the supreme court were practically identical.

Two Die in Auto Crash, 4 Hurt in Rail Wreck

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Two persons were killed in an automobile early today when a car containing college girls returning from a football game collided with another, whose occupants were unidentified.

The girls in the car returning from the game were: Miss Florence Killilea, of Milwaukee; Miss Katherine Kennedy, of Youngstown, Ohio, and Miss Margaret Perganze, of Milwaukee. Miss Killilea, who was driving, is the daughter of Henry J. Killilea, counsel for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. All the girls are members of the Sigma Kappa sorority.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Nov. 12.—Twenty minutes behind time, and running at high speed to make it up, a Great Western passenger train turned over here early this morning, dangerously injuring four persons.

A Pullman tourist car and the diner left the tracks, plowing up 1000 feet of track. The wreck occurred a mile and a half out of town.

Police Probe Mystery Of Wrecked Roadster

A new Studebaker roadster, registered under the name of the Buttonlath Manufacturing company, 2300 East Vernon, Los Angeles, was found in a wrecked condition by the local police on Forrest avenue near Glendale avenue Sunday night.

Inquiry at the office of the company revealed the fact that the car had been stolen from in front of the office Saturday. There were no blood stains on the car, and no report has been made of any one receiving treatment at local hospitals. The entire right side of the car was smashed, the top torn away and fenders gone. The police have no report as to the cause of the accident.

VETERANS IN GLENDALE'S ARMISTICE DAY FETE

Services at High School Are Attended by Legion and Other Patriotic Bodies

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff.

The flare of trumpets, the blare of bands and the waving of flags in a November sun carried Glendale back five years this forenoon to the day when the greatest war in history was brought to an end.

That war had exacted heavy toll, not only from this city, but every section of the United States. No one, even though the sight of the marchers in the parade opened up deep wounds in their heart which time had ineffectively tried to heal, could feel that the sacrifice had been in vain.

G. A. R. in Line
Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, their ranks sadly thinned, each year showing the effect of the hand of Father Time, middle-aged men who fought in the Spanish-American war in '98, and the American Legion, latest addition to America's list of war veterans, were in line, as this day was essentially theirs.

The parade, which formed at Cedar and Broadway, proceeded down Broadway to Brand, up Brand to Wilson, across Brand and south on Brand to Moyse field where short services were held.

Many patriotic organizations were represented. The Boy Scouts drew forth admiration for their military bearing. They (Continued on page 7)

GERMANY DEFENDS EX-CROWN PRINCE

New Issue Created by His Return Considered at Paris Today

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, Nov. 12.—The German government, in a note to the allied council of ambassadors today defended the right of the former German crown prince, Frederick Wilhelm, to return to his native land from his place of exile in Holland.

The communication was in reply to a note dispatched by the ambassadors' council to Berlin last week protesting against Wilhelm's return, which they feared might have grave consequences.

It is understood the German government pointed out that the former crown prince is a German citizen and the Reich cannot forbid entrance of a German citizen. The Berlin government further maintained that Wilhelm's return was a purely domestic question.

Beer Cellar Treachery Revealed at Munich

MUNICH, Nov. 12.—Disorders have been taking place here and elsewhere in Bavaria during the past 24 hours. In view of the renewed violence, the funeral of the eighteen victims of last Friday's fighting has been postponed.

The demonstrations against Von Kahr are growing. It is believed they are not actuated so much by love of Hitler as by the feeling that Von Kahr played a dubious role when he double-crossed Ludendorff by not telling him he would bolt the Hitler movement as soon as he got out of the beer cellar, where the revolt began.

Although Ludendorff has promised not to agitate against the government, it is reported he may be invited to leave Germany and make his future residence in Switzerland or some other neutral country.

Several clashes between Nationalists and police and Hitlerites were reported, but there were no casualties.

SOCIAL EVENTSShower Honoree

Mesdames Warren Roberts and C. C. Cooper were hostesses Saturday night at a prettily planned stork shower, complimenting Mrs. Owen C. Emery. Over fifty friends of the hostesses and honoree were delightfully entertained at the Roberts home at 617 East Elk street.

A wealth of beautiful fall flowers were effective decorations in the various rooms. Rose buds, chrysanthemums, lilies, and sweetpeas were the flowers used.

In a cunning basket before the fireplace in the living room was a smiling, daintily dressed baby doll.

Elaborate decorations greeted the guests in the dining room, where a luncheon was served and Mrs. Emery showered with many pretty gifts.

In the center of the large table, lighted by candles, was a saucy little kiewpie standing in the heart of a big yellow crepe paper rose. His arms were outstretched to the guests, who could catch glimpses of him through a shower of pastel shaded crepe paper streamers falling from a wire frame on the ever-changing chandelier. Tiny bluebirds, sweetpeas and little crepe paper ladies were added touches.

The place cards were tiny ones with little candles held in pastel shaded crepe paper rose buds and the honoree's name in gold lettering.

Included in the company were Mesdames E. E. King, C. H. Temple, A. M. Hunt, W. W. Worley, J. V. Rea, William McCormack, Mattison B. Jones, Seymour Smith, Edith Huntley, W. W. McElroy, M. R. Brown, H. Fire Company Called
To Save Burning Car

Glendale's new fire company, No. 4, stationed on Glorieta avenue between Canada boulevard and Verdugo road, answered its first call at 2:20 p. m. November 10, S. C. Leppelman, discovered in a Ford roadster belonging to Woodhill & Hultz, 111 East Third street, Los Angeles.

The car was standing at the corner of Canada boulevard and Opechee way, when rags dropping on a hot exhaust caused it to catch fire. The fire was extinguished with chemicals. The car was damaged to the extent of $100.

Armistice Day Spirit Is Sounded in Sermon

In keeping with the spirit of Armistice Day, Mr. H. C. Funk of the First Lutheran church used as his text Sunday morning, II Timothy 2:3: "Then therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ," speaking on the subject, "The Price of Peace."

In the course of his address Dr. Funk said:

"Roosevelt used to say, 'Fight it out, and then you will have peace.' 'Seeing it through' is another way in which the idea may be expressed. You will meet with persecution and misunderstanding, but we are here admonished to endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

"To be a good soldier of Christ means that one must be in dead earnest. I like to see a warm Christian; the warmer he gets the better he suits me. Indeed, it is all right to get red-hot on the subject of religion. Getting hot means that you care; keeping cool simply denotes that you are indifferent."

"Peace is a priceless legacy; and for our own land we can say: 'Stilled is the tread of armies. Armed for the deadly fray, And birds shall nest in the cannon That belched death yesterday.'"

"For men in the heat of passion Gave heed to the voice of peace, And sitting 'neath the branch of olive Have ordered that wars shall cease."

"Gone are the hates of passions, Tumult and striving ceased, And man, made in God's own image, From the blood-lust stands released."

"God grant that in the evolution and progress of man, the time may have come when nations shall not learn war any more."

Marriage Institution Forms Study Topic

The interest in the studies in Genesis being given by Keith L. Brooks before the Presbyterian Brotherhood Bible class was manifested by unusually good attendance at the City Council rooms Sunday morning at 9:30. Among other things Mr. Brooks said:

We have traced through the six days' work culminating in the giving out of God's latest creation, the man and woman. The testimony of geology is that man is the latest born inhabitant of the earth and that he came from a common center somewhere in the tableland of Asia. The world is occasionally startled with the word that human remains millions of years old have been found, but in every case careful investigation sooner or later proves the claim unfounded. The Bible teaches that all races came from the one stock.

"We read that God Himself brought the beautiful woman whom He had taken from Adam's side into the man. Adam could not miss the solemnity of this occasion. God made this marriage. He made man single, then divided him in two, and then made the two one. Adam saw that this was the most intimate relation possible among human beings. In Eden, their joy was so complete that between the two there was but one heart, for Adam said, 'She is bone of my bone and flesh of my flesh.'"

"So intimate was the marriage relation as God established it, that every other union should yield to it. It is so sacred that God further says, 'Let no man put asunder what I have joined together.'"

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

LAUGHTER FORMS SERMON'S THEME OF GOD IS TOPIC 'LEST WE FORGET' SERMON SUBJECT

Rev. H. I. Rasmus Shows Gospel of Cheer Influences Humanity

Taking as his text Psalms 126:2, Dr. Henry I. Rasmus, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, preached yesterday morning on "The Ministry of Laughter." "Then was our mouth filled with laughter and our tongue with singing; then said they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for us."

"The words of the psalmist," said Dr. Rasmus, "are in contrast with the subject of last Sunday morning, 'The Ministry of Tears.' Both have their places in the emotions of mankind. Laughter is mentioned thirty times in the Scriptures. Sometimes it is born in the sunlight of joy, and oftentimes it is the midnight of despair. It is an exercise that not only influences human nature, but is an influence that even affects angels and devils. Can we find the Gospel in a laugh?"

"There is a theology that teaches that Jesus never laughed. I am not in sympathy with that position. For, while Christ was a man of sorrow, acquainted with grief, whose face bore the marks of suffering, he was that gave to the world the only gospel of hope and cheer and confidence. He must have been an apostle of glad tidings of great joy."

"There are two kinds of laughter. There is a vast difference between the laugh of innocent children of pure manhood and womanhood, and the coarse, harsh laugh of the man disgraced by sin, or the hollow laugh of the painted woman, who has 'fallen like a snowflake from heaven to hell.'"

"Then there is the laugh of skepticism. Away back in early history, as an aged couple sat in their tent door, an angel appears, bringing a message that a son is to be born to them in their old age, thus fulfilling the prophecy that of their seed a great nation should arise. Sarah laughs the laugh of skepticism, and is rebuked by the angel, and each century since has had its echo of skepticism at the supernatural."

"The supernatural always awakens the mirth of the unregenerate. At the announcement, 'Unto you shall be born this day in Jerusalem a savior. Born of a virgin. A whole nation begins to laugh. For twenty centuries this laugh of skepticism has continued. Making mirth of the story of the Garden of Eden, the pillar of fire, the resurrection of Lazarus, and even denying the resurrection of Christ. No part of God's word but has caused derision. Better keep the Bible a little longer. Old folks find comfort in it, children believe in it, the world still needs it. It is a ghostly thing to laugh at God and His word. It is a mean thing to steal a man's goods, but a much meaner thing to steal a man's faith."

"The warring heathen nations of antiquity have passed away. Persia, Syria, Rome, Germany, one and all laughed at God, and perished. Appetite entrenched behind law in the form of the saloon laughed at God and the praying mothers of America, but the Eighteenth amendment has outlawed them, and this heaven will leave the whole lump."

"Paul and Christ had the ring of victory down to the end, and so can we shout a laughter eternal, for joy cometh in the morning, victory over the grave and death."

Nationwide Campaign Explained by Rector

Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, yesterday devoted his address to an explanation of the nationwide campaign that is to be launched by the church throughout the entire country to aid in the progress of the work, both at home and abroad. Members of the church will conduct a canvass of every person listed on the church rolls on Sunday, November 25, to secure pledges for the work that is to be carried out during the coming year, and a meeting of a large number of church workers will be held tonight in the church to determine the plan of campaign and to map out the districts that are to be visited by the various teams engaged in the canvass.

CAR HITS FIRE PLUG

Residents in the vicinity of Milford street and Columbus avenue were treated to a miniature geyser Sunday evening, when a car driven by Mrs. J. H. Alexander, 1020 North Ardmore street, Los Angeles, according to the report made at police headquarters, swerved into the curb and broke off the fire plug at the corner.

BURGLARS SCARED OUT

Burglars forced their way into the residence of E. R. Steele, 417 West Harvard, Saturday evening, by "jimmying" a front porch window. Before they had time to gather any loot they were frightened away.

St. Paul's Message to Church at Corinth Tells Spiritual Truth

The morning service of the Glendale Presbyterian church was held in the Glendale Theatre, yesterday. The message was brought by the Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the pastor, who spoke on "The Dependableness of God." His sermon was based on 2nd Corinthians 1:20-22: "For in Him is the yes that confirms all the promises of God." (Moffatt translation).

"There is no quality more valuable than dependableness," said Rev. Edmonds. "In the business world it is a pearl of great price. While dependableness is not a saving quality it should certainly be well up on the ladder of Christian graces. In matters of public trust and positions of private business responsibility the quality of dependableness is counted of greater value than the most brilliant gifts and the most impulsive enthusiasm."

"Paul, in this passage, is bringing out this great spiritual truth that at all times and under all circumstances God can be depended on. Paul had promised to visit the Corinthian church and then had been unable to keep his promise. His enemies challenged his dependableness. They ascribed the same uncertainty to the message he had brought to them. The word of God was brought into question. Would God make good His promises? Can a man today turn over his affairs to God? Can a man put his business on a gold rule basis absolutely? 'Him that honoreth Me I will honor.' God's promise is at stake. In Christ the 'yes' affirms all the promises of God. God is not a changeable and uncertain being, but one sure and enduring as His everlasting throne. We serve a God on whom we can utterly depend. We are not a people who are truly the Rock of Ages."

"God never forgets His word. Back in the ages past He promised a Redeemer. Man waited 4,000 years. It was most surely fulfilled in the fullness of time. He was born of a virgin. His name was called Jesus. He promised Abraham the land of promise as his inheritance. After 400 years of trial at last came possession. He promised Jeremiah that after 70 years the captives would return from Babylon. God made good His promise to the very hour. To every Hebrew we say, Jesus Christ is his Messiah, even to the exact date. He promised the Holy Spirit came in wondrous power. There are just as true promises to every individual believer. 'Heaven and earth shall pass away but My word shall not pass away.' God has promised that His Son shall return to earth. We know not the day nor the hour of His return. In such an hour as we think not God's prophetic clock will strike and He will come again."

Variety of Promises

"Notice the variety of the promises. ALL means not only universal, but particular. They number more than 40,000. Though they are great in number and variety every one is of sterling gold. He makes good every one of them. You can depend on God. In all the world there are no two men alike. Yet the plan of salvation just fits the needs of each one. He promises cleansing. Every heart that cries 'Create in me a clean heart' is immediately cleansed. He promises physical healing and He gives it insofar as it is in harmony with His will. Our bodies are precious in His sight. They are temples of His Holy Spirit. He promises comfort for the sorrowing, deliverance for the tempted and strength for the weary. There are promises to meet every human need. God has a thousand hands and every touch is a touch of satisfaction.

"God has guaranteed His promises. They are promises from His great chest book and every one endorsed by the great Mediator, Jesus Christ. His word and honor are pledged to their fulfillment. He fulfilled the conditions of redemption and receives in return all the promises of God. He fulfilled the covenant and now for His sake and in His name we claim every one of them just as fully as if we had fulfilled the conditions ourselves. Here is something worth while. God cannot lie. He cannot go back upon His word or He would cease to be God."

Salvation Is Real

"This word 'Amen.' It is the response to the 'yes' of Jesus Christ, 'so let it be.' It is a personal check. Write your name on the back. Personally appropriate it and then it becomes payable. Every promise of God must be subscribed by you and receive your amen. It is a great privilege to put our amen to a promise. But it is stronger yet when this amen is through Christ. 'If ye shall ask anything in My name I will do it.' The believer is literally tied to God through Jesus Christ with an eternal bond of security. All things are yours and ye are Christ's and Christ is God's." When Christ indwells the human heart we are divinely enabled and we know that He which hath begun a good work in us will perform it unto the day of Jesus Christ. All this is intensely real. The salvation which brings such results is no dream.

Rev. Leo C. Kline Talks on Lessons Found in World Strife

A warning of the parasites that are imbedding themselves in our national life, and endangering our position as leader of world thought, was sounded by Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church Sunday morning. Inspired by the thought of Armistice Day, he took as his subject "Lest We Forget," and used as his text Proverbs 14:34: "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

"This day which we celebrate as Armistice Day," said Rev. Kline, "is becoming one of the great national memorial occasions. All those sentiments which were given expression upon the first Armistice Day, are revived in memory, whether joy that the war was ended, or sorrow over the loss of loved ones."

Position of Nation

"The day should also recall to our minds the unique position of responsibility as a leader. The world looks to us to show it the way out of chaos. Our problem is, what shall we do to maintain our identity, to prove ourselves worthy of this trust, and to lead the world aright? Our nation was conceived in prayer and devotion by men and women moved under God to found a homeland where principles of right should form the lasting cornerstone."

"These forefathers of ours who laid the foundations of our national life did so with the desire to form a commonwealth where liberty of religious conviction should prevail, where God should be worshipped and righteousness respected. This is our heritage. Their work was well done, and no one who studies the history of our land can fail to see that our success or failure has been determined by our adherence or neglect of their early ideals."

'Home, School and Church'

"Those things which have contributed most to our greatness are the ideals of government, justice, equality and liberty, the form of government which we maintain and our institutions. These institutions are the home, the public school and the church. Anything which menaces these great fountain heads of our national life is a menace to the civilization of the world. As America goes, so the world."

"Our national life is threatened today by our national pride as evidenced by our slowness in helping to solve the problems of the world; by the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few; by rapidly increasing divorce and decline of home life; and by the growing disregard of the claims of religion."

"This day should recall us to a new consecration to God and to all those high ideals which contribute to personal happiness and national welfare."

Program of Special Music Is Rendered

Special music at the Sunday morning service at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church included the singing of a soprano solo, "O, Divine Redeemer," by Miss Josephine Dowling, and the rendition by the choir of Kipling's Recessional (music by DeKoven), with solo parts by Miss Dowling. The anthem was sung in special observance of Armistice Day.

Additions to the regular singers were Mr. and Mrs. Henri De Kruff, who, with Miss Dowling, were entertained over the week-end at the home of Mrs. John W. Cotton, director of the choir. Miss Dowling left New York two months ago to locate in Los Angeles and those who were privileged to be among the listeners Sunday are looking forward to hearing her on occasions of future visits to the city.

BALL CREW HITS ROCKS

CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Nov. 12.—President W. H. McCarthy of the Pacific Coast league, and members of the "little three" had a narrow escape last night when Marco Hellman's yacht, on which they made the trip here, hit a rock, it was learned today. The boat slid off and proceeded safely to port.

TARGET PRACTICE VICTIM

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Victim of a target practice with a rifle, Marval Shavaller, 15-year-old high school student, was shot and killed early today.

There is nothing of fiction here, no uncertainty. The God who does such things is a God on whom we can depend.

"Note the great climax. Continuance and permanence are needed to complete this picture of security. How long will it last? He has given us the earnest or pledge of future payment, a guarantee that the full expectation will be realized. The complete inheritance is yet ahead. You can depend on God. He will abundantly fulfill every promise. Receive by faith what He has promised. Believe His word and act accordingly. Faith saves. According to your faith be it unto you."

EAGLE ROCK

SCHOLARSHIP IS GIVEN MISS GUNN

Twentieth Century Club's Award to Daughter of Missionaries

The 1923-24 scholarship offered by the Women's Twentieth Century club to a student at Occidental college has been awarded to Miss Harriet Gunn, a junior there whose parents are missionaries in the Philippines, announces Mrs. H. I. Curzon, chairman of the scholarship committee.

Highest recommendations from the Occidental faculty were given Miss Gunn, both as to character and scholarship. She has excelled in literature, particularly poetry. Miss Gunn was last year a tutor in Eagle Rock, while pursuing her studies at Occidental college. This year she is an assistant to the faculty.

At the Women's Twentieth Century club luncheon Thursday, November 15, Miss Gunn and Miss Walker, president of the Occidental Women's Guild club, will be special guests. Mrs. Curzon is adding that the scholarship idea was founded with a view to bringing the members in closer touch with the college and of broadening its influence in the community.

Local Notes

Residents of Mariposa avenue have accepted Los Colinas as the changed name. Translated, it means "the hills," which residents feel is quite appropriate.

The dahlia committee of the Women's Twentieth Century club, having recommended that the club divorce the society and let it organize along independent lines, it now remains for the board of directors to take the action necessary to effect the separation.

Saturday, November 17, is the day set for the second annual bazaar of the Order of the Eastern Star sewing circle, to be served in the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, Mrs. Hal Baly in charge. Dinner will be served at 6:30, and in the evening there will be a dance.

"Port of Golden Opportunity" was the film shown before the meeting of the Occidental-York Valley Improvement association Friday night, November 9, starting at 8:15 o'clock. A number of fine musical numbers were on the program, among them Miss Jennie Durkee, ukulele soloist.

Two building canopies are up, protecting Eagle Rock pedestrians from the possibility of falling materials. One is on North Central avenue, just above Myrtle avenue, where the J. B. BURBANK

SCHOOLS TEACH
CHILDREN THRIFT

Realty and Building Active in Neighbor City, News Is Informed

Twelve hundred children in the Burbank city schools are going to learn how to bank their money—that is, if they have any to bank. The plan now being instituted will be known as the Burbank School Savings association, with each child having a "safe deposit vault" of his or her very own.

Pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters will be accommodated in the toy bank which can be opened only by the school bank cashiers. Interest will be paid all deposits, it is stated.

Regular passbooks and other banking paraphernalia to the extent of $1000 is being provided by the sponsors of the school bank which will be put in operation at the Luther Burbank, Thomas Edison, Abraham Lincoln and Joaquin Miller institutions.

On authority of Los Angeles realty observers, The Glendale Evening News is informed that heavy real estate sales have been made in Burbank during the last 60 days, in fact, as much property has changed hands as at any other period in the city's history, it is stated.

Building this November also is active with numerous permits for homes costing $3000 and more being recorded. E. H. Coombs, James Wood, William Fry, S. C. Rogers and Robert Heron are among the many builders starting work during the last week.

It is stated there are 350 open escrows at the Burbank banks all the time now, which shows the trend of affairs from a realty standpoint.

Postmaster Coffman says that the government postoffice department is desirous of receiving bids on the business of carrying mail between the postoffice and the depot, to fill a vacancy which now exists. The bids must be in before 5 o'clock on November 15. For further information on the subject, any prospective bidder may inquire of Mr. Coffman at the postoffice.

Local Notes

A school of missions will be opened at the Christian church Sunday night, November 18, it was announced at yesterday's services. Expert teachers will be in charge.

Mrs. Edwin Fisher of 727 Angeleno avenue is confined to her home with a broken ankle, the accident occurring when she was alighting from her car.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peterson are located in the Farley court, having sold their home at 623 Palm avenue to Mr. and Mrs. J. Shepard of Glendale.

Community Band in Concert Tuesday

The second public concert of the community band will be Tuesday night, November 13, at the Glendale Union High school auditorium, starting promptly at 7:30 o'clock, with a splendid supplementary program, states D. Ripley Jackson, president of the Glendale Exchange club, which is sponsoring the affair.

Admission is free and a special invitation is extended by the Exchange club to all Glendaleans to come to the concert Tuesday night and bring their friends.

The former concert of the Community band, as many will remember, was sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce and proved to be a piece of highly worthwhile entertainment. With the practice the members have since had, it is felt that tomorrow night's affair will be a real sensation.

Nearly Half Million in New Electric Line

(Continued From Page 1) cer, was so crowded with work, states Mr. Hatch, that Mr. McGuire was unable to handle it all. This city has reason to be proud of the fact that a Glendalean is in charge of an enterprise of such magnitude.

"Thus it is seen that from a small beginning, the plan of electrification of Glendale avenue has developed into a half million dollar railroad project," says Mr. Hatch. "The very fact that so much capital is being invested in this line should make it self evident to everyone that the Glendale & Montrose Railway company, in co-operating with the Union Pacific, has entered into a program of expansion that will grow as the city grows."

NEED CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL GIFTS

General Appeal Sent Out to Provide Little Ones With Proper Care

This year's Thanksgiving "shower" for the benefit of the suffering little ones in the children's hospital in Los Angeles will be held November 27 and 28 and open house will be observed on those days at Sunset boulevard and Vermont avenue. Because the need this year is so acute, a county-wide appeal has been sent out urging the public to give more generously than ever before. Mrs. M. G. Eshman is chairman of the linen committee and Mrs. Robert I. Rogers of the publicity committee, for the affair.

It is hoped that Glendale donors of gifts will come personally for a glimpse of the work on behalf of the suffering children. However, if personal calls are not convenient, well-wishers may order donations of articles sent from the downtown stores, or by messenger or parcel post.

Needs Are Listed
Most acceptable gifts for the shower, after actual money, now so sorely needed, are blankets, sheets, pillow cases, napkins, towels, both hand and bath; table-cloths and bolt material suitable for bandages and other innumerable purposes in hospital work. Especially the need is urgent for sheets of 52x60 and 72x90 dimensions, and pillow cases of 20x30 and 14x20. Jams and jellies for the little convalescents would be most acceptable gifts, as well.

Despite the fact that the children's hospital is conducted on less money per day per patient than any other similar institution in the country, and every possible economy is practiced, the cost runs faster than the income, due to the fact that 87 per cent of all cases are charity cases.

During the last year salaries and expenses increased 8 and 18 per cent respectively, while 55 per cent more bed cases and 44 per cent more clinic cases were handled, than in the previous year.

The work of the hospital has steadily increased with the growth of Los Angeles. It is the hope of the hospital sponsors to spur the public into making contributions keep pace with that increase, so that it will not be necessary to curtail so vital a work.

Travel in Europe Holds Its Thrills, Even for W. B. Kirk

Taking as an inspiration the beauties of Lugano, W. B. Kirk introduces his travelogue today with an imaginative picture of Glendale lying on the shores of a beautiful lake and surrounded by its present natural attractions. He says, writing from Lugano, Suisse, "I imagine Glendale as being on a calm, blue lake, which filled the Los Angeles river bottom from the Southern Pacific tracks to Griffith park road; curving as does the river around the Elysian park hills; the mountains beautifully green with grass and trees and having white villas on their sides extending high up; with a funicular railroad up Mount Verdugo and another up Mount Hollywood; a village on the opposite side of the lake having large hotels and white buildings; snow-capped peaks in the distance; vegetation, flowers and weather just as they are.

"Get this composite in your mind and you have a splendid mental picture of this lovely spot. Of course, the streets and buildings are different, but the general outlines are not dissimilar. Lugano is on the west side of the lake, while Glendale would be on the east.

"A ride up the funicular road to the top of San Salvatore on Wednesday revealed a wonderful panorama. The mountain is just about as high as Mount Verdugo, but steeper. We could see the other parts of Lake Lugano, Lake Como, an hour's ride south; and Lake Maggiore, an hour's ride to the west. About two hours' ride to the south lies the large Anglicized city of Milan.

"We have been 'excursioning' only a little from here, just resting, doing nothing, and it has done us all good. Surely the Lord has been good to us, leading us to this beautiful place, to this hotel in its fine, quiet location, with its comfortable rooms and unusually good cooking. So we have stayed right here for two weeks. In that time we have had one rainy day. The rest of the time the weather has been as perfect as could be desired.

Reviews His Trip
"This vacation of ours, where in I have no news of travel or fresh sightseeing incidents to relate, will give me an opportunity to tell you about some things in detail which I feel sure will interest all of you in some degree at least. I believe this will be better than to go back and give you additional details of places and events of which I have already written, however hurriedly

Wanted: A Scrub for Tuesday Club Oh-Ho Show Cast

The Tuesday Afternoon club needs a "Scrub." Prospective "Scrubs" will please step forward.

"Scrub" is one of the very important roles in the college musical comedy, "Oh-Ho," to be given with an all-local cast for the Tuesday Afternoon club early in December. All the parts, to the number of sixty, are filled, with the exception of the part of "Scrub."

"Scrub" is billed as a Freshman Frat "pledge." Around a fraternity house a Freshman Frat "pledge" has an easy job, as all he has to do is to do all the janitor work, wash the dishes, shampoo the bull dog, answer the door bell, press the seniors' trousers, polish the juniors' shoes, tie the sophomores' Tux ties, and infinitum.

Director John Reber, of the "Oh-Ho" show said the most ideal men who have played the "Scrub" part in the "Oh-Ho" show are Eddie Drew, of Oakland, and Jackson W. Kendall, of Pasadena.

Applicants for the job will please get in touch with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of the "Oh-Ho" show, who claims that that "Scrub" is a "fat" part, but that a slim man can do it.

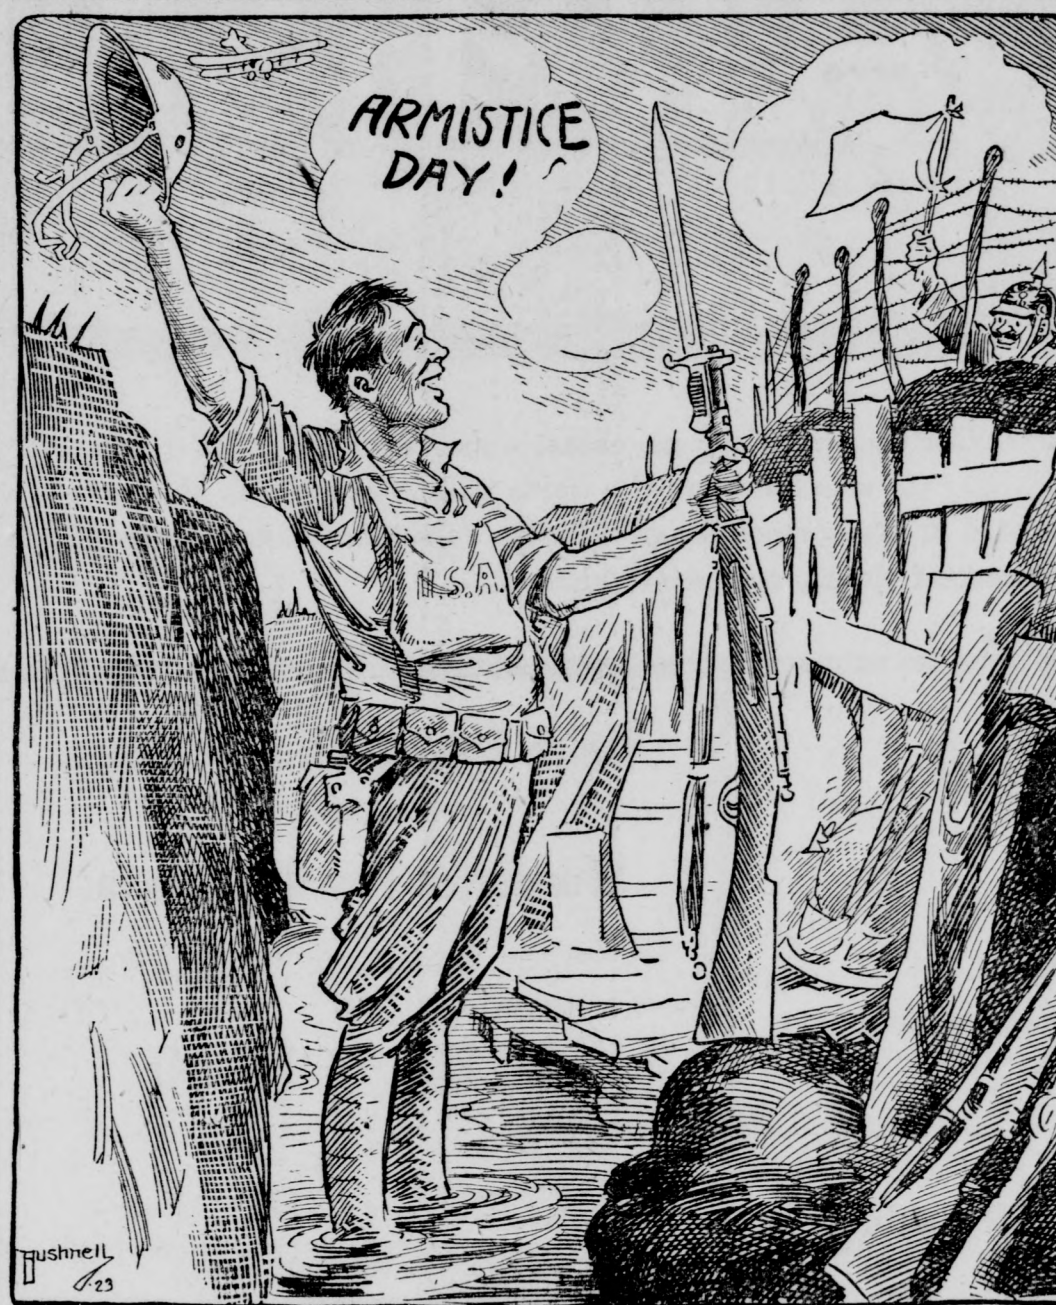

Mr. and Mrs. Pismo Visit Gilhuly Home

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly of 342 El Bonito avenue entertained over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Pismo of Pismo Beach, who thus returned the call made some weeks ago, en route down from the realtors' convention at Sacramento. Mr. Pismo thought to bring a number of his famous milk-fed clams, which shed briny tears when they learned that their fate was chowder.

A young spring chicken which Mr. Pismo also brought along was allowed to show its amazing muscular development before consenting to a monologue in the frying pan. It was explained that the chickens at Pismo Beach get their exercise eluding the clams, which are fast runners and very savage.

A MEMORABLE EVENT MONDAY THAT WILL NEVER BE FORGOTTEN

'Now or Never' Slogan for Salesmanship Club Members In Evening News Campaign

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager
With the end of the first period of The Glendale Evening News' $10,500 salesmanship campaign less than two weeks away club members should accept "NOW OR NEVER" as their slogan. Efforts now will count more than all the regrets in the world, the race has been lost.

November 24 is the last day to get MORE THAN THE MINIMUM number of credits for subscriptions. Win or lose—as you benefit during the next few days—that is exactly what the first period of this campaign means.

Leading club members are seething with busine of preparation for one grand "round-up" of all their friends and acquaintances in quest of the winning credits before Saturday, November 24, and, with one accord, are fighting valiantly and determinedly toward the goal where the valuable prizes await.

Intense though suppressed excitement prevails among the various club members in this race as each realizes that he or she is within reach of a prize valued at $2250. That is the value of the lot in Montecito Park, Sparr Heights. A small fortune, indeed, all to be won or lost in the next few days, depending almost entirely upon the amount of subscriptions turned in before a week from Saturday night, and each has entered the final lap of the first period with the grim determination to win or to know the reason why.

Next Count Tuesday.
The standing of the club members was printed in this paper last Saturday and the next standing will be published Wednesday. All subscriptions and credits received up to 6 o'clock Tuesday evening will be counted and the results will be made public the following evening in The Evening News.

If you have any ambition whatever of winning one of the big prizes, now is the time for you to put forth your best efforts and make a good showing in the standing when the next list is printed. If your friends see that you are doing some good work and that you stand a chance of winning one of the good prizes they will rally to your support and they will lend you every assistance possible to put you over the top.

Be a Sticker
Don't be satisfied to be an "also ran" when you can be a winner of one of the prizes that are being offered and if you have the stick-to-it-iveness to stay at the job you will be one of the winners and win a real prize that will well repay you for every effort that you use during the time that the campaign is in progress.

In order to be a big winner it will be necessary for you to do your best work during the remaining days of the first period, for at no time during the balance of the campaign will it be possible for you to get as many credits for the subscriptions as you will receive during this first period that ends November 24. The matter rests with you if you are to be a big winner or not, for it's what you do during the remaining days of this period that will make you a

TODAY—Coolidge Remains Reticent, But Entertains Oftener.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Calvin Coolidge probably is the most reserved and reticent man conversationally, that ever sat in the White House. He is as sparing with his words as he is with his dollars—and he has always been an economical man, largely dependent upon his salary as a public official for his living.

Yet, despite this reticence and been factually, more people have been guests at the White House table since Calvin Coolidge became President than in any similar period under any of his predecessors.

Harding, particularly, and Roosevelt, and to a lesser extent, Taft were hospitable men who liked to talk as they dined and lunched. They entertained thousands during their terms, and Calvin Coolidge the White House chef and kitchen force were worked before. Scarcely a day goes by but sees guests at the mansion for luncheon or dinner.

At first Washington was a bit puzzled over this. As Vice-President, Mr. Coolidge was an inevitable guest at capital dinner parties. That is a part of the job of being Vice-President. Cynics of Washington life have observed that to be Vice-President one must be fortified with a copper-lined stomach and a goat-like digestive apparatus. The Vice-President "eats" for the President.

The Coolidges themselves seldom entertained. They were entertained.

Now all that is changed. The guests of social and political Washington have become the hosts.

Why this sudden transition? Politics! It answers many questions in Washington.

When a sudden stroke of fate elevated Calvin Coolidge from the comparative obscurity of the Vice-Presidency of the highest elective office in the world his acquaintance with public men, even with the prominent figures in his own party, was very slight. He never called any of them by their first names, as did Harding, Roosevelt and Taft. He didn't know them. They didn't know him.

Like the swell of Summer's ocean.
—Lord Byron.

SPIRITUAL LOVE

What care I tho' beauty fading
Die ere Time can turn his glass?
What tho' locks the graces braid-
ing.
Perish like the summer grass?
Though thy charms should all decay,
Think not my affections may!
For thy charms—tho' bright as morning
Captured not my idle heart;
Love so grounded ends in scorn-
ing.
Lacks the barb to hold the dart.
My devotion more secure
Woods thy spirit high and pure.
—William Caldwell Roscoe.

LOCKED DOORS WRECK ROMANCE Husband Too Busy For Love, Wife Charges

Mrs. Cora Marie Gustison Dantz.

SEATTLE, Nov. 12.—"Love is of man's life a thing apart." This woman's whole existence." So goes the old literary gem.

And it was very much apart—president of the Hotus Steel Equipment Company of this city, according to his young wife.

When Cora Marie Gustison became Dantz's wife she had visions of a "dream of a home," the companionship of her husband and delightful hours together in that home or at social functions.

Now, eight months after her wedding, she has asked the court to grant her a divorce and alimony and an equitable share in his estate. Her dream has been shattered, she charges. Dantz was away from home most of the time in those eight months—which should have been one perpetual honeymoon, she says. And when he did come home, he usually locked himself in his room—usually with her outside the door.

Dantz denies that he deprived his young wife of his company when it was possible to be at home without hurting his business.

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

AT THE RACE TRACK

Seven horses running fast
At a pace that cannot last.
Round and round the track they speed
Striving hard to gain the lead.
Now and then a filly creeps,
Though her feet have moved by leaps.
Just an inch before the pack
But the others force her back
Ere the lead be kept too long.
It's a contest for the strong.
Now the course is almost run;
Now the race is almost done,
From the bunch a horse leaps out.
Listen to the rising shout!
Wild excitement on each face
Marks the closing of the race.
Every eye with joy is keen
At the spectacle they'd seen.
But my heart is sad and blue
And I know not what to do.
For the horse I wagered on
As a winner hadn't gone.
—William Sunners.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SWEET POTATOES

"Have you any potatoes in the bungalow, Nurse Jane?" asked Uncle Wiggily one morning, as he hopped into the kitchen. His muskrat lady housekeeper, who was giving the dishes their bath, looked up in surprise.

"Of course, we have potatoes," she answered. "You will find some in a basket behind the pantry door."

Uncle Wiggily hopped into the pantry, but soon he came out making a funny face.

"Where is the sugar, Nurse Jane?" he asked, twinkling his pink nose.

"What are you up to now?" Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy wanted to know as she dried her paws on her apron. "First you ask for potatoes and now for sugar. What is the idea, if I may kindly ask?"

"I want to put some sugar on the potatoes. They aren't sweet enough," answered the bunny gentleman.

"Well, of all things!" laughed Nurse Jane. "If you want SWEET potatoes, why don't you ask for them, instead of taking other potatoes and putting sugar on them?"

"I didn't know you had any sweet potatoes," said Mr. Longears.

"Of course, we have," said the muskrat lady. "They are in a bag on the second shelf of the back closet, right next to the turnips and around the corner from the carrots, just in front of—"

"Stop! Stop! I never can remember all that!" cried Uncle Wiggily, holding up his paws. "Would you please find the sweet potatoes for me?" he asked, making a low and polite bow with his pink, twinkling nose.

"I'll get them for you," offered Nurse Jane. "But what are you going to do with the sweet potatoes?"

"I am going to roast them in a bonfire," the bunny said. "Some of the animal boys and girls, who have no school today, asked me to give them a little party, and I thought a sweet potato one at a camp fire would be jolly, as it is cold today."

"I might have known it," laughed Nurse Jane. "Playing with the children! Dear me hum suz dud!"

"Well, perhaps I'll get an adventure out of it," chuckled the bunny as Nurse Jane gave him the sweet potatoes.

Uncle Wiggily built a little camp fire not far from his hollow stump bungalow, and about it gathered Sammie and Susie Little-tail, the rabbits, and Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the bunny dog boys.

"When will the sweet potatoes be roasted, Uncle Wiggily?" barked Jackie.

"Oh, in a little while, I think," answered the rabbit, as he put some of the potatoes into the hot embers. The sweet potatoes were longer and thinner than white potatoes. They were pointed on the ends and inside they were yellow.

"Will you take my potato out of the fire for me when it's baked, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Susie. "I'm afraid I might burn my paws."

"I'll take it out for you," kindly offered Mr. Longears.

Then he and the children sat about the blazing camp fire, waiting for the sweet potatoes to roast.

"Well, I think they must be baked by this time," said the bunny gentleman after awhile. He had been hopping about, here and there, up and down and sideways to keep the camp fire smoke from getting up his pink, twinkling nose.

But just as Uncle Wiggily was getting ready to poke some of the roasted sweet potatoes from the hot embers there was a rustling in the bushes and out stalked the Bob Cat.

"Oh, ho!" snarled the Bob Cat. "You are all ready for me, I see!"

"Who is ready for you?" asked Uncle Wiggily, while the animal children began to feel a bit frightened. But the bunny whispered to them: "Don't be afraid. I'll fix this Bob Cat."

"You are ready for me!" growled the bad chap. "You and your ears!"

"Before you nibble my ears," said Uncle Wiggily politely, "will you not kindly sit down and have a baked sweet potato?"

"Yes," snarled the Bob Cat. "I will. But no tricks, mind you!"

Here's your potato! cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Now he is out of the way we'll have our picnic, children," said Uncle Wiggily. So he took out more sweet potatoes. And, when they were cool, Sammie, Susie, Jackie and Peetie ate them and had a fine time.

And all the Bob Cat had was an icicle. But, if the lollypop doesn't stub its toe and fall down stairs when it's going up to wash its face, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and his auto horn.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

Menu Planning, No. 1

I will review last week's diet paper for you:

Best Food Foundation For Each Day For Each Child—

Part 1, Protective Foods:—1½ pints of milk (at least); 1 full cup of vegetables (especially the green leaf vegetables), part of them raw; 1 cup of fruit, part fresh if possible.

Part 2, Energy Foods:—Cereals, including whole grain breads; fats, in the form of butter and cream; and egg yolks.

You do not have to have different menus and cook different foods, etc., for children of different ages. After the chewing teeth are in, a food that is wholesome for one age is usually wholesome for another. The older child will take larger amounts (perhaps). But in each day you must work in for each child the minimum allotment of the Protective foods.

Each child, overweight or underweight, should have this minimum allowance of Protective Foods. For if he has this, we can be pretty sure that the complete protein, mineral elements and the vitamins will largely be taken care of, and—especially if the energy foods are properly chosen—that there will be a preponderance of alkalizing foods and, consequently, no danger of acidosis from the diet.

It is the Energy Foods that have to be decreased for the overweight child. And the Energy Foods and the milk and egg yolks of the Protective Foods can usually be increased for the underweight child. In these cases count calories! I gave you a table of the caloric values of average portions of many foods a short while ago. If you missed it you may have it by sending a fully addressed, stamped envelope to me, in care of this paper.

By planning your menus ahead, mothers, you will not only be able to have them better balanced, but you will be able to market much more efficiently and save time in the preparation of meals.

When you have a roast, plan to have baked potatoes and baked apples or other fruits, or a baked pudding. When you prepare your vegetables, prepare enough so that you can have some left over for a salad or a cream soup the following day.

If you run your household on the budget plan, allowing a certain amount each month for food, clothing, rent, education, charity, amusement and doctor bills, allow a liberal amount for the Protective Foods for each child and adult. By doing this, you are going to be able to save on those doctor bills.

Doctor bills are high—they have to be high on account of the many years of preparation a scientific physician has to pay for before he can practice. When you are ill, you willingly spend any amount for his recovery. Think of this and spend more money, if necessary, to better advantage in keeping him well.

You will not only save money in this way, but much sorrow and suffering.

NOTE:—We have the tables of average weight, height, and age, of babies and of boys and girls for mailing to you now. You may have one or all of these by sending the necessary stamped and fully self-addressed envelope to me in care of this paper.

Tomorrow—Menu Planning No. II.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, the stamp is for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the heat of your letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. c. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Delightful is the first little frock either in black taffeta trimmed with red or in beige trimmed with brown. It closes at the center-back, and the neck may be either in round or V-shaped outline. This model is greatly favored in Paris just now, and it may be developed in the wool crepes and flannels as effectively as in taffeta. Deep extensions are provided for lengthening the sleeves, if desired. Medium size requires 1½ yards 40-inch material.

The next model consists of a jacket of figured silk and a one-piece side-plaited skirt attached to a front-closing lining. A two-piece collar of the skirt material finishes the neck of the slip-on blouse. This model is practical in linen, serge, flannel, twillcord, or a combination of fabrics. Medium size requires 1½ yards 54-inch material for jacket, with 2 yards for the skirt.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Ignorant: The lunch should contain about ten dainty sandwiches, pickles or olives, two doughnuts or two pieces of pie, and fruit.

Ed: White kid gloves should be worn by the men attendants at a formal wedding.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I entered the junior year of high school this year, but because of difficulties at home I was forced to quit. Since I have quit school, mother has become very mean to me and tells me every day to leave, although she gave her permission for me to quit.

I have no relations to go to and find that life is nearly unbearable. The only way out is to go into a hospital and take up training. I have always liked the work, but I do not know how to go about it. I am only seventeen and they will not take me until I am eighteen. Must I have a complete high school education?

BUCKEYE ROSE.

Almost all hospitals require a complete high school education. Of course, I do not know the difficulties which prompted you to leave school, but it seems to me you made a great mistake. My advice is to try to get back into school the beginning of the next term. If you find that impossible go back next year and complete your course.

It seems to me you would find it most worth while to fit yourself for nursing. In choosing a profession it is always wise to pick something which will enable you to be of real service to humanity. A good nurse certainly finds every opportunity to serve.

Perhaps if you have a talk with your mother you and she can come to a better understanding. Try to get her point of view, because without a doubt she is displeased with you for something which seems very reasonable to her. If she knows how you are suffering and that you really want to do the right thing, I feel sure she will be less harsh and will help you to get a new start and a better education so that you will be fitted to enter the profession which appeals to you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl sixteen years old and not bad-looking. I have known a boy two years my senior by three years. We have always spoken when we met each other. This summer every time he went by my place and saw me he always waved and lately it seems he always smiles, etc., when I meet him on the street. Do you think he loves me or not? I was never introduced to him, but we just started speaking about three years ago and have ever since.

He goes with no other girl and I have never gone with him. His actions make me think he loves me. Do you think so? One reason I have never gone with him is because my folks don't let me go with boys.

UNKNOWN FRIEND.

It is impossible for me to say whether or not the boy loves you. I believe, however, that if he loved you he would not be satisfied with speaking and waving his hand at you. Of course, if he has asked for your company and you have had to refuse because of your parents' objections, you have some reason to think that he cares for you. If, however, he has not asked for your company, in all probability he thinks of you as one to greet on the street, but does not consider you as a close friend.

At the age of sixteen you are really very young to go with boys and your parents are perfectly justified in objecting. Wait another year or two and they will be more lenient with you.

There's no use in chasing climate. Hunting cures away out west; Drink rich milk and eat fried chicken; Go to bed and take a rest.

EXCESSIVE PERSPIRATION

A great many women who have been suffering from excessive perspiration all the summer, are writing to ask me why the same condition exists although cold weather has started.

Excessive perspiration is due often to nervousness, sometimes to poor health, and most frequently to local unhealthiness of the skin. I am almost afraid to add that it is often due to insufficient bathing, for I still remember an indignant answer I once received in reply to a letter suggesting that as a reason. Nevertheless it is true that when the pores of the skin are not kept free through frequent bathing an unhealthy condition results with consequent excessive or odorous perspiration.

Most people perspire most freely in the arm pits. A very warm bath and a free lather of soap once a day will probably cure this condition in a week's time. Generous use of plain unscented talcum powder will help because it will keep the skin cool. Shaving under the arm pits or using a depilatory will also help because it will keep the arm pits cool. And if these measures fail try the following formula:

Epsom Salts 3 ounces
Wheat Bran ½ pint
Water 4 pints

Mix these and let them stand over night, strain and add 4 ounces of the best quality bay rum.

This will stop excessive perspiration but not all perspiration, and a certain amount is necessary. This will promote a healthy activity of the skin, and it will neutralize any disagreeable odour. It is perfectly harmless, and can be wiped over the skin as often as you wish.

Perspiring hands are generally the result of poor health. Sometimes, however, they are the result of nervous shock or excitement. There is nothing to do then but wash them with cool water.

Millicent O.—In your formula of one tablespoonful each of lemon juice and of vinegar, and a teaspoonful of wine for bleaching freckles, you are merely adding together several acids of equal merit. Lemon juice will accomplish the same result alone.

C. M.—I will be glad to mail you information about caring for the skin to keep it young. There is not sufficient space allowed for printing it here. On October first, there was a chat covering the subject of wrinkles. Eyelashes that are scant can usually be improved through brushing, and applying a tonic to the roots.

Suggestions for Overcoming an Unpleasant Complaint

Tomorrow:—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Mr. Zangwill was born in London, England, in 1864. He was married in 1903 and his wife, Edith, daughter of the late Prof. W. E. Ayrton, is an authoress of note, two of her books being, "The First Mrs. Mollivar" and "The Rise of a Star." They have two sons and one daughter.

Practically self-educated, Mr. Zangwill took his B. A. degree in London. He was a teacher first, then a journalist, editing "Ariel." He has written novels, essays, poems and plays. Glendale Merchants Are Prepared
To Meet Glendale
Needs

Citizens Endorse a Movement to Foster Community Loyalty and Sanction a Practical Business Co-operation Between Buyer and Seller In the Building of a Bigger, Better Glendale Merchandising Center

The Wide-Awake Modern Merchant Does Not Hide His Light Under a Bushel

Some people shy away at the first reference to trading at home. They feel that the merchants are trying to "put something over," that the business men are in league to get their money.

The merchant who doesn't ask for business today belongs in the dark ages. The modern business man describes his stock in detail, gives his prices and tells all about his service to his customers and those he hopes to make his customers. The wide-awake man gets his store message before the greatest possible number of prospective patrons. And whom should he seek to interest in his business and make his customers if not the home town people? To whom should he look for business but to his fellow citizens, those who are working with him in Community Development?

When the modern merchant asks your trade he is not seeking charity, not favors. Time was when storekeepers asked for business for the sole reason that they needed it. That they could not give you value received did not enter into the matter at all. But that day is long past in Glendale. The merchandising game today is no one-sided affair. The merchant has to produce the goods literally and figuratively.

The home town people have helped to build in Glendale a business center that is phenomenal considering Glendale's size and age. We have wide-awake business men, it is true, but it is your trade that has enabled them to build such fine stores, render such superior service and carry such representative lines of merchandise.

Your patronage of the home town merchants has redounded to the credit of Glendale and so to your credit as a citizen of Glendale. The firms represented on this page know that a Greater Glendale is possible only in co-operating with you and so they have prepared themselves to meet your needs. And, as up-to-date business and professional men and women they do not hesitate to ask for business.

THIS page appears in The Glendale Evening News once a week. On another page is a classified index which explains the location of the cards on this page. The building of a greater community sentiment is the purpose of this page. Co-operation between the merchant and the buyer put into actual practice is a community builder.

Clubwomen Plan to Observe Charter Day

One year ago tomorrow the Tuesday Afternoon club meeting in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard, celebrated the annual Charter Day and later met at the new clubhouse on North Central avenue for the ceremony of laying the cornerstone.

Tomorrow Charter Day will be observed again by the club women, and the special significance this year will be that it will be the first Charter Day in the club's new home.

On Charter Day the charter members are always specially honored and at the meeting tomorrow there will be a short program complimentary to them.

Preceding the meeting hour there will be the usual cooked food sale under the direction of Mrs. Homer Lockwood, and the hour of community singing led by Gage Christopher.

Then will follow the Charter Day program and later Miss Winifred Rouzee, Bible student and traveler, who has just returned from the orient, will give a lecture.

Only 35 shopping days more to Xmas. Come, look around at Japan Art & Tea Co.—Advertisement, 11-10-12.

types of engines and cars quite similar.

Run Light Trains
"The engines all have the large, round, bumpers projecting from the front, which are very prominent and which, alone, would distinguish them from ours. On some of them also, especially in Britain, the 'drivers' are boxed in heavy iron, which gives them a strange appearance, like a car, instead of an engine."

"Most of them are small compared with ours, except in the hill sections of Belgium and Lorraine, where we saw larger ones. The reason for this, I suppose, is that the countries are small, the runs short and the trains light."

"On some of the through international trains, the passenger cars are fairly long and heavy, but on most trains they are short and light. I imagine not more than half as heavy as one of our passenger coaches. Their car wheels are nearly all spoked like those on an auto, instead of being solid like ours."

"The roadbeds are all very fine, with grade crossings at all on important lines, and where there are any on others they are guarded with an eagle eye, so that, with granite or stone arched bridges or steel ones, they make wonderful time."

"Mile a Minute" Speed
"A new schedule of one of the trains from Paris (north) to Calais allows only 195 minutes for the run of 136 and a quarter miles, including a five-minute stop for water."

"We have been on several trains which were at least forty-five and fifty miles per hour. And this in fact is the fact that they switch cars from one train to another so as to give through service, much more than we do. And they seem to do it so easily and make so little noise."

"In America, when a passenger train departs, the engine toots to clang the bell, the engine toots very loudly, and, finally, with a jerk as it takes up the slack the engine begins to puff-puff its way out."

"Here, if you are not on board at leaving time you're out of luck, because the guards have closed the doors; sometimes you hear a tiny squeak of the engine whistle, but more frequently without a sound, no bell, no fuss, you begin to move out quietly and noiselessly as if you were at a funeral."

"The train pulls in just as silently. You may be sitting in the station with the door closed and never know it has arrived. You don't have to worry about noise at a station hotel, or near the station, you will never be disturbed by the trains."

Different Type Coaches
"The passenger coaches are all divided into compartments, as you know, on which, up to a few years ago you had only an outside door on each side, with no connection whatever with the other part of your car on the train. They still use some of these cars, on local trains, but on most through trains now your compartment door opens into a narrow aisle running along the side of the car through which you have ingress and exit at the end of the coach or through a vestibule into the next car."

"There is no law against setting your grips out into this narrow aisle, or standing in it, if the train is crowded, so it is frequently some job to get through the train. Neither is there any law against putting your baggage in the racks above so, of course, bags of enormous proportions fill the racks, with the direct danger to the passenger seated below."

Seats Are Uncomfortable
"The seats are upholstered high up, but are immovable and so straight that they are very uncomfortable. They don't strain, however, because Europeans don't know the meaning of comfort in furniture. If there is a rocking chair or other easy chair in Europe I have never seen it."

"They have a fine system of displaying board or iron signs on the sides of the cars showing their destinations, also of marking the class on the car plainly, I, II, III, IV. We ride first, second or third class, according to the country and conditions. In England they have only first and third. Third is as good as you want. In Ireland you must ride second and in that the fare is five or six cents a mile. In France and other countries we have traveled first and second. There is little difference except in the upholstery and a marked difference in the fare. Many of the cars are divided: one end is first, the other second. Third is clean and all right, but has hard seats, while in the fourth the passengers have not seats but sit on their luggage or chairs."

Mr. Kirk will continue his discussion of transportation in his next letter.

THE GLENDALE

"Going Up," Douglas MacLean's latest screen production, flew into the Glendale Theatre yesterday and flew away with about all the laughter the audience could reasonably be expected to spare in one evening. Mr. MacLean is the star of the high altitude comedy and the aviation clothes he wears fit him without a wrinkle.

The plot of the story concerns a young man who has to fly an airplane and can't. That is about all there is to it and that is sufficient as it affords Mr. MacLean unlimited opportunities of being continually forced from one amusingly uncomfortable situation into another both more amusing and more uncomfortable.

Like every other screen star, Mr. MacLean appears to the best advantage when his story material is adequate and "Going Up" is the best vehicle of his career.

Formerly with Roberts & Echols, Mr. Hadsell went to Jensen's store when it opened recently in the Palace Grand Arcade on North Brand boulevard. He is now back again at the fountain where he built up many friendships.

"While we will not expand the fountain at this time," says Mr. Echols, "owing to the fact that we will move into our new quarters on the corner as soon as they are vacated by the Glendale branch of the Security Trust & Savings bank, we are very glad to have Mr. Hadsell with us again. We are now planning the fix-not excepting "The Hottentot" and "Twenty-Three and a Half Hours' Leave." The play is a two-time Broadway success. Originally presented as "The Aviator," by James H. Montgomery, it scored heavily on the New York stage. Later, it was set to music by Otto F. Harbach and Louis A. Hirsch and presented by Cohan & Harris as "Going Up." The musical version played for more than two years in New York and throughout the country and a year and a half in London.

Mr. MacLean as Robert Street, a young man with a distinct aversion to all things aeronautic, proves himself a skilful farceur. His capable support includes Marjorie Daw, Hallam Cooley, Edna Murphy, Hughie Mack, John Stepping, Arthur Stuart Hull, Francis McDonald and others.

Other film attractions on the same program make it a great show which will play again tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday. You will want to see it.

W. M. Hadsell Again at Roberts & Echols Store

W. M. Hadsell has returned to the Roberts & Echols drug store at 102 East Broadway, and will have charge of the soda fountain starting today.

Known as one of the best fountain men in Southern California, and possessing a type of personality that has made him extremely popular, Mr. Hadsell is considered a distinct addition to their service, according to Mr. Echols.
